Headteacher's Blog

What a busy few weeks the children have had. They are all enjoying their new unit of inquiry and looking forward to some visits after half term. Keep a look out for letters coming home.

Sponsored Walk – Our annual sponsored walk will take place after half term. This is our biggest fundraiser apart from our Christmas events, and all monies raised will be used to purchase new books for the class libraries. We are usually match funded by Barclays Bank but that is not possible this year. If anyone has contacts either in their workplace or a family contact that may be able to help, we would really appreciate creating a new community link and raise some much needed funds in the process.

Swimming – Cadair Idris will begin swimming lessons on Monday until 17th December. A letter was sent home yesterday. They will be attending lessons within the school day. The rest of key stage 2 will attend swimming lessons after Christmas.

Ynysyawl CoOp – Diolch yn fawr! A massive £200 has been raised by the community to cover the cost of damages made to the school during the summer holidays. This more than covers the cost so in consultation with the children, it was decided to purchase additional resources for the playground. We need a never ending supply of non-leather footballs at the moment! 😊

Maternity leave – Mrs Gauci has been adding lots of information to the school website before her maternity leave starts next week. Lots of policies and professional photographs of our younger learners have been added. www.trerobart@weebly.com Don't forget to keep up to date by looking at our school twitter feed @trerobart

Pupil Voice/Pupil Leaders – photographs will be posted on Twitter next week, sharing our leaders for 2021/2022.

Shwmae Day – Fri 15th October – Criw Cymraeg will keep you informed as to what Trerobart will be doing this year to promote the use of the welsh language and encouraging more conversational welsh. Photographs of the day will be posted on Twitter

Wellington Boots – If you have any boots suitable for foundation phase and nursery children, then please donate to the class teacher.
