Headteacher's Blog

Blwyddyn Newydd Dda! Happy New Year! I hope you all had an enjoyable Christmas break.

Uniform: It is great to see so many children back in their school uniform; it really does make a difference. School council are currently creating a uniform policy, when it has been agreed by the school governors I will let you know.

Recycling: The Eco Warriors are currently collecting Christmas/Birthday cards and batteries. They have received several bags so far...diolch yn fawr. Please keep them coming.

Reading Books: It has been great to see so many children remembering to return their book to school. It really makes a huge difference when children read regularly at home and develop a love of books. Please remember to complete the yellow book that comes home with your child's reading book. Many thanks.

Learning Experiences: This term looks to be another exciting term for all the children. Many new visits and visitors are currently being planned by the teachers. Friends of Trerobart will be contributing to the cost of visits and visitors again this term, and school will continue to contribute to the cost of buses, trying our best to reduce the financial burden to families. The ticket sales from the Christmas concerts are used for this purpose. Keep a look out on Twitter for photographs of these experiences.

PE – Please could you ensure that your child leaves their PE kit and bag in school? It is an important part of the lesson learning to get changed. Staff will be receiving training over the next few weeks in preparation for our new PE scheme of work, Real PE.

Open door policy: Teachers and I are happy to speak to parents before or after school. Please ensure you meet before 8.50am as teachers are required in the classroom at that time. I am often available during the day but you many need to speak to the office first to ensure I am in school.

I am sure all the children will sleep well tonight; they have had a busy first week of term. Mrs Buckle
